Joint statement on Inclusive Schools Within the Context of Diverse Societies

Barbara Novinec, President, ESHA

Working Group discussion

Group 'Yellow' (EN/FR/RU) – Conference Room

Group 'Red' (EN) – Red meeting room

Group 'Green' (EN) – Green meeting room

Working Group discussion

1. Which elements of the Statement are the most important for your organisation in your national/regional context? Why?
2. Which points of the Statement are the most challenging for the implementation in your country/region? Why?
3. How do you plan to follow up on and contribute to the further implementation of this Statement in your national/regional context? How ETUCE, EFEE, and ESHA can support your work on this topic?

Working Group discussion: Reports

Teaching in multicultural context: Good practice

Gitta Franke-Zöllmer, VBE, Germany

Inclusive education as a tool to prevent violence, radicalization and extremism: Good practice

Vitor Figueiredo, Ministry of Education and Science, Portugal

Plenary discussion

1. How to implement the principle “every learner matters and matters equally” in the context of multicultural and diverse classroom and society (communication issues, cultural behavior, families and carers, etc.) ?
2. How can inclusive education serve as a tool to prevent violence, radicalisation and extremism in your national context (practices in your country)?

Panel discussion on Democratic citizenship and human rights education

Magdalena Górowska-Fells, Polish Eurydice Unit

Dr Bernt Gebauer, Council of Europe

Dorota Łoboda, Council of the Capital City of Warsaw

Michail Beis, FRA

Democratic citizenship and human rights education: Challenges

- Translation of policies into practices while taking into account national context
- Understanding of policies by practitioners
- Evidence-based policy development and upscaling
- Lack of space and time in the curricula for democratic citizenship education

MOOC Teacher training session: Teaching controversial issues

Giacomo Ottonello, European Inter-University Centre for Human Rights and Democratisation

Laura Widger, School for Lifelong Learning of 'Waterford Institute of Technology'

MOOC Teacher training session: Teaching controversial issues

Prof. Frans Viljoen, University of Pretoria

How to deal with diversity

Hannah Jane Parkinson, The Guardian
Lives are ruined by shame and stigma. LGBT lessons in schools are vital

The article makes the point of shameful language and de-humanisation of LGBT persons and issues. How can education help reinstate the centrality of human dignity and rights at school but also more broadly in the family and in the community? You can try to think of different responses: as a student, as a teacher, as a school authority, as a parent. Please also refer to your own experience on the theme of gender- and LGBT-related lessons.

Teaching controversial issues: Good practice

Jens Vermeersch, GO! Education, Belgium

Digital democratic citizenship: Good practice

Suzana Hitrec, Association of Croatian Secondary School Principals, Croatia

Plenary discussion

1. How to ensure that digitalisation contributes positively to inclusive education rather than challenges it (practices in your country)?
2. How to address through education the growing individualisation of students and the loss of the true collective versus a digital collective (practices in your country)?
