Multinational school chains eyeing Hyderabad

The study observed that the Telangana government recently ordered the closing down of 4,000 government schools, citing lack of enrollment while permitting private schools to operate with impunity.

Hyderabad: A study by the Telangana government has revealed that multinational school chains are eyeing Hyderabad. The study, conducted by the state government, found that the closure of 4,000 government schools has created a vacuum in the education sector, which is being filled by private schools. The study also noted that the government has permitted private schools to operate with impunity, leading to a rapid increase in the number of private schools in the city.

This move has led to a significant increase in the number of private schools, many of which are multinational chains. The study also noted that the government has not taken any steps to improve the quality of government schools or to attract more students to them.
